Strategic Partnership with ClearView Continuity announced

Resilience Guard is pleased to announce an important new partnership with ClearView Continuity, an award-winning Business Continuity Management (BCM) software platform based in UK, represented in Switzerland by Resilience Guard from now on.

ClearView Continuity CEO Charles Boffin commented, "We are seeing significant growth and interest in ClearView across Europe and we are delighted to announce this partnership with Resilience Guard in Switzerland to further enhance our capabilities in the Region, providing local implementation and support services for clients. Resilience Guard has an excellent track record in supporting major organisations in their BC activities and they have a keen appreciation and understanding of the opportunities afforded by technology. We are very excited at the prospect of working with them."

Resilience Guard Managing Director John Zeppos added, "We are all very excited and honored to partner with ClearView, the leading provider of Business Continuity software solutions, as we believe technology plays a major role in a Business Continuity Manager's daily life, making things much easier for all interested parties, thus facilitating response if and when needed. ClearView is a partner that adds significant value to the solutions we provide to our clients, as their recognition in the Business Continuity industry is second to none. We, at Resilience Guard, believe that together we can support our local clients in a more consistent way, offering combined solutions to their needs, allowing them to mitigate their risks in a much easier and modern manner."
